

Court Order Is Sought to Oust Strikers From 2 Flint Plants

Sit-Down Strikers No Longer Employees, Concern Says

HEARING NEXT WEEK

Union Leaders to Protest Alleged Discrimination

Lansing, Mich.—(P)—Twenty-five non-union General Motors workers from Detroit arrived at the office of Governor Frank Murphy shortly before noon today and announced their intention to "sit down" there until the executive promises to remove union strikers from two Fisher Body plants at Flint, Mich.

Murphy said the group was welcome to remain as long as it wished. He said he planned to leave for Detroit early this afternoon to remain until Monday.

Detroit.—(P)—A petition seeking a court order for eviction of sit-down strikers from two Fisher Body plants at Flint, Mich., revealed today that General Motors corporation no longer considers the men to be employees.

Roy Brownell, Flint attorney for General Motors, filed the petition with Circuit Judge Paul V. Gadola of Genesee county (Flint) late yesterday. It requested an injunction prohibiting the strikers from continuing to occupy the plants they have held since Dec. 30.

The court directed the United Automobile Workers of America, which called the strikers that have crippled operations of General Motors, to show cause why an injunction should not be granted at a hearing at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The bill of complaint with the injunction petition referred to the sit-down strikers as "former employees" and said "they are no longer employees of the plaintiff and have no right to remain on the premises."

Evacuation of the strikers has been demanded by General Motors before it would meet with union officials to settle the widespread strikes. However, should this be accomplished the asked-for court order, negotiators might be confronted by a new issue.

Charge Discrimination
U. A. W. A. leaders have said they would protest alleged discrimination against union members, and of the eight points they seek to negotiate with the corporation demands reinstatement of all employees "unjustly dismissed." They indicated that this would apply to the discharge of the strikers.

Until the injunction petition was filed General Motors had given no indication that it no longer regarded "sit-downers" as employees. Whether the corporation holds the same view toward strikers who have not remained on company property and "sit-downers" who have vacated three other plants could not be learned.

The department of justice assigned operatives of the federal bureau of investigation to ascertain whether strike-breakers were sent across state lines to the scene of a strike at the corporation's Guide Lamp plant at Anderson, Ind.

The LaFollette civil liberties committee, which has had representatives at Flint for a fortnight, ordered a senate agent to Anderson to investigate union allegations that strikers there were victims of violence.

Perkins Sends Agent
Secretary of Labor Perkins dispatched a representative to Anderson also, under instructions to determine whether General Motors instigated raids on a union meeting and the U. A. W. A. headquarters there, as alleged by strike leaders. Miss Perkins said the labor department agent would visit other General Motors strike zones as well.

The labor secretary said she would continue to converse with leaders of both sides and the remainder of the settlement.

Harry R. Baldwin, Anderson manager, sent Miss Perkins a denial of allegations made by Ed Hall, second vice president of the U. A. W. A. that police held a striker and beat him during a recent disturbance. Mayor Baldwin said officers protected union leaders and conducted them to safety. He blamed the trouble on "outside organizers" for the union.

Dispute Continues
Differences between Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan and the Flint Alliance continued. The governor declined yesterday to answer a request of an alliance delegation that he guarantee "full protection" to men returning to work in the reopened General Motors plants and blamed the alliance "in part" for the failure of the "Lansing truce" between General Motors and the union.

A few hours later George E. Boyesen, president of the Alliance said: "Governor Murphy indicated that the Flint Alliance should make no further moves and should again retire to the background. . . . The Flint Alliance will continue to demonstrate in every possible way that it expects and demands that the forces of law and order in Michigan be used to permit the great majority, who want to work, to return untroubled to their jobs.

"We will continue to use peaceful methods and methods in accordance with law."

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Madison.—(P)—John Barchard, prominent Milwaukee manufacturer and former president of the state chamber of commerce, suffered a heart attack last night while attending a conference with Governor LaFollette at the executive mansion.

Mr. Barchard was taken to Wisconsin General hospital where his condition was reported today as serious. Hospital attaches said, however, that he had improved during the night.

Fire Extinguished Aboard Ship After SOS Call Is Sent

Flames Brought Under Control After Battle of More Than Hour

New York.—(P)—The captain of the coastwise vessel Shawnee wireless late this morning he had succeeded in extinguishing a fire in the No. 2 hold after a fight of several hours during which he dispatched a peremptory SOS distress call.

Laden with 190 passengers and a cargo of fruits, vegetables and cotton, the Shawnee, of 6,200 tons, with a crew of 174, was bound from Jacksonville and Miami for New York when her skipper wireless a call from a position off Cape Henry, Va., for assistance at 6 a. m. (C. S. T.)

The City of Birmingham and the coast guard responded. An hour and twenty minutes later the Shawnee advised all ships in the vicinity the fire was under control.

The fire apparently broke out during the night, radio reports said, while the Shawnee was between Cape Hatteras and Cape Henry. There were no details as to the extent of the blaze.

The master of the Shawnee reported his twin-screwed vessel was making 17 knots about 20 miles an hour, land speed—and at that rate would require about two and one-half hours to reach Cape Henry.

Dozen Seaplanes Land at Honolulu
Naval Ships Fly 2,553 Miles in 21 Hours and 48 Minutes
Honolulu.—(P)—Batting through thick weather in the last stages of their record-breaking flight, 12 huge United States naval seaplanes completed the longest over-water mass flight in history at 3:50 a. m. today (8:20 a. m. central standard time).

They officially covered the 2,553 miles from San Diego to Honolulu in 21 hours, 48 minutes elapsed time.

During the last 300 miles the squadron maneuvered between altitudes of 2,000 and 15,000 feet to escape what Lieutenant Commander William H. McDaniel described as "very bad weather."

The only previous mass trans-Pacific flight was three years ago when Lieutenant Commander Knoffler McGinnis led a squadron of six naval planes on another "routine" flight of 2,400 miles from San Francisco bay. The elapsed time then was 24 hours, 45 minutes.

Assembly Passes Bill Permitting July 1 Deadline on Tax Payments
Madison.—(P)—A bill granting cities, villages and town boards authority to extend time of payment of real estate taxes to July 1 was passed in the assembly today and message to the senate.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Kostuck, Kelly, and Handrich, was approved 89 to 0. It authorizes local governing bodies to determine conditions of payment. Taxpayers desiring extension must file an affidavit with the treasurer.

Kelly explained that drought conditions last summer had limited farm income and that farmers, as a group would be burdened with interest on delinquencies unless some relief was granted.

The assembly received 11 bills during a half-hour session and adjourned.

ASSEMBLY O. K. SEEN

Includes Special Tax of Half Million on Telephone Revenues

Madison.—(P)—The Severson-Sigman labor disputes bill, creating a "little Wagner act" for Wisconsin, was headed today into legislative difficulties over a series of amendments to apply its stringent provisions to employers and workers alike.

One proposed change, not contemplated by the state federation of labor, which is sponsoring the act, calls for outlawing the sit-down strike.

A crowd that packed the assembly chamber listened to four hours of arguments on the bill yesterday before joint committees of the assembly and senate.

Attorney Joseph Padway of Milwaukee served notice that the federation of labor will press for enactment of the measure in substantially its original form. It establishes a three man labor relations board to take jurisdiction over industrial disputes, permits all union agreements with employers, forbids company dominated unions and provides arbitration machinery.

Principal objections to the original draft voiced by Attorney H. W. Story, vice president of the Allis-Chalmers company, Milwaukee. Story said he did not oppose passage of a new law for collective bargaining but maintained that the federation bill puts all the restrictions on employers and none on workers.

He also attacked the provision that employ representatives shall be chosen by majority rule, asserting that rule won't work.

He asked that the law forbid coercion or intimidation by any source, whether it be employer, worker or outside agent and proposed that the legislature set aside the precedent established by the supreme court in the American Furmen company case in which it permitted a union to maintain a strike in a plant where it had no members.

Opposes Suggestions
In rebuttal Padway maintained that Story's proposals, most of which will reach the houses in the form of amendments, would make the bill ineffective.

He declared if the act were in force today, it would bring about industrial peace and would promptly settle the J. L. Case company strike at Racine.

Harlan W. Kelly, attorney for the Sheboygan Chamber of Commerce, charged that "the courts have been getting in Joe Padway's hair and the purpose behind this bill is that certain interests in Wisconsin would rather enforce the laws themselves than have the courts do it."

Conway's Proposals
J. M. Conway, Green Bay paper mill executive, endorsed the changes proposed by Story and recommended three others:

That the labor relations board be composed of one representative each of employers, workers and the public instead of three men appointed by the governor.

That majority control of employee bargaining representation be defined to mean control by at least three-fourths of the employees.

That legitimate employee organizations be sustained free from interference by irresponsible labor groups.

Improvement Reported
In Condition of Pope
Vatican City.—(P)—Although weakened by long illness, Pope Pius XI was described today by reliable sources as showing "more of the characteristics of convalescence than of active illness."

Despite less sleep than the previous night because of twinges of pain caused by the damp weather, the holy father's doctors considered the local condition in his legs to be satisfactory, an official report said.

Consider Verdict in Trial of 17 in Moscow
Moscow.—(P)—The military collegium of the soviet supreme court retired tonight to consider its verdict against 17 seemingly doomed men on trial for plotting the overthrow of Russian government.

Government Gets Set for Cleanup In Flood Regions

Tentative Program Calls For Relief for 200,000 Persons

Washington.—(P)—The government organized a cleanup campaign in the wake of the disastrous Ohio flood menace on the lower Mississippi.

President Roosevelt said Harry L. Hopkins, WPA chief, Major General Edwin M. Markham, chief of army engineers; Surgeon General Thomas Parran, Jr., and Colonel C. F. Harrington of the WPA Engineering staff would arrive in Memphis Monday to begin a survey of the devastated section.

Their findings will determine the number to be placed on relief. Provision for a starting relief roll of 200,000 is underway.

Army engineers watched anxiously as the Ohio overflow poured into the Mississippi, carrying the threat of a record crest in the levee-protected stream. Plans for rapid evacuation of lowlands sections were in readiness.

The president said individuals in need of small financial assistance will receive donations from the Red Cross and that business men may obtain loans from the reconstruction corporation in restoring their ruined stocks.

G. O. P. Security Plan
Republican congressmen began a drive to extend the social security act's pension system to farmers and domestic servants and to put it on a "pay-as-you-go" basis.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) introduced a resolution to that effect in the senate; Representative Reed (R-N. Y.) took similar action in the house.

Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone of the supreme court returned to Washington from Sea Island Beach, Ga., to resume his duties on the bench. Stricken with dysentery last fall, he said he was "feeling fine."

The war department announced winter maneuvers for its headquarters air force would be held in the vicinity of Selfridge field, Mich., from Feb. 1 to 24.

At his press conference President Roosevelt disclosed he is studying possible new labor legislation but has come to no conclusion. He said he had talked with the business advisory council about control of hours and wages and child labor.

Suit Filed to Oust Colonist in Alaska
Anchorage, Alaska.—(P)—The Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation, administrator of the federal farm colony in the Matanuska valley, filed suit in federal court today demanding $3,000 worth of personal property from Charles E. Ruddell, described by Manager Ross L. Sheely as "the most expensive colonist."

Ruddell, who came from St. Louis county, Minnesota, was ordered to appear within 30 days.

Sheely said filing of the suit, in which the corporation seeks to recover animals and machinery provided Ruddell, is tantamount to the farmer's dismissal from the colony.

Sheely said Ruddell owes the corporation more than $14,000 and refuses to contract for purchase of the property.

Each family was given a 40-acre tract and $3,000 when it came north two years ago.

Eight of the original 15 families from St. Louis county, Minn., have left the colony.

Agreement Indicates End Of Pacific Coast Strike
San Francisco.—(P)—Tentative agreement between longshoremen and shipowners was interpreted today by observers as the virtual end of the 92-day Pacific coast maritime strike.

"It is possible that the men will go back to work Monday," said Henry Schmidt, president of the San Francisco local of the International Longshoremen's association.

He predicted other necessary agreements would be quickly reached and the accords promptly submitted to 38,000 striking maritime workers for approval.

Marshal Forces Of Local Groups To Raise Funds

Will Show Motion Pictures To Secure Money for Flood Sufferers

Forces of various organizations in the city will be marshaled to raise additional funds for Red Cross flood relief purposes through motion picture shows at the local theaters next week.

Representatives of the various organizations this morning were asked by Mayor Goodland to attend a meeting at the city hall at 2 o'clock this afternoon at which time it was planned to make arrangements for the motion pictures and the selling of tickets.

All proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross as use of the theaters and films will be donated, according to Mayor Goodland. He pointed out that a great many persons, who can not afford to make larger donations, will be reached through the plan.

Collect $2,682
The Outagamie county chapter of Red Cross had collected a total of $2,682.81 up to this morning and the total was expected to near $3,000 by tonight, according to Mrs. S. C. Shannon, secretary.

Although contributions are steadily coming in, the national Red Cross still is a long way from its goal of about $10,000,000 and donations should be sent in as soon as possible.

Adjutant Len Burridge of the Salvation Army today received a plea from the district headquarters for an unlimited number of coats, blankets, mattresses, pads, boots, children's and other clothing. Truck loads of food stuffs, clothing, shoes and bedding already have been shipped from this section of the state. All items of clothing, food.

Pleads Guilty of Drunken Driving

Court Orders License of Appleton Man Revoked For One Year

Arrested following a traffic accident on W. College avenue early Thursday evening, Frank Evers, 37, 905 N. State street, pleaded guilty of drunken driving when he was arraigned before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning.

He was fined $50 and costs with an alternative of 60 days in the county detention camp, and indicated that he would pay the fine. His driver's license was ordered revoked for one year.

A vehicle driven by Evers is alleged to have been involved in a collision with a car driven by Ben Cherkasky, 1320 N. Drew street. Cherkasky signed the complaint.

O'Malley Wants Inquiry On Flood Control Work
Washington.—(P)—Representative Thomas O'Malley, Wisconsin Democrat, introduced in the house today a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of plans and contracts on flood control construction projects on the Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

O'Malley said he had information which "clearly indicates that the American taxpayers have not received one-half of what they have paid for."

The congressman said he favored contractors, dredge companies, engineering firms and "pork barrel" pursuers had profited from federal expenditures designed for flood control.

Scores of Villages Under Water as Mississippi Tide Sweeps Forward

Illinois City Battles to Keep Out Pressure Of Waters

CRISIS NEXT WEEK

Army Engineers Forecast Full Flood Of 62 Feet
Cairo, Ill.—(P)—The brimming Ohio river spewed a record flow of more than 2,000,000 cubic feet of water per second past Cairo today to send the flood creeping upward despite desperate measures to relieve the pressure against the city's bolstered seawall.

Temporarily safe from the menacing river, already at a level above their heads outside the levee, the 5,000 remaining residents saw the flood move up on the gauge almost to the point reached before the Eads Point, Mo., spillway was opened to save the city.

Silently through the night, the waters inched upward, reaching a stage of 58.4 feet, a rise of 28 of a foot in 12 hours. This was only 1.6 feet below the top of the concrete wall, but 4.6 feet from over-reaching the dirt-packed bulkheads now rising on the permanent embankment's summit.

Just what river crest these boards and dirt and sandbags would have to withstand was uncertain.

"Zero Hour" Wednesday
Veteran Government Forecaster W. E. Barron repeated again his prediction the river would go to 60 or 61 feet, but army engineers at Memphis forecast a full flood of 62 feet. All agreed the "zero hour" would be about Wednesday.

Fearful of the effect of the enormous pressure against the bulwarks, the army engineers blasted open the lower end of the spillway in an attempt to give Cairo a further respite against the oncoming crest.

This old river town—hemmed in by the Mississippi on one side and the Ohio on the other—was practically deserted except for its levee defenders, and almost like a fort in military siege behind its 60-foot seawall.

United States coast guard cutters shuttled up and down the turbid rivers on "bicket duty" against the menacing waters. Inside the walls government engineers directed new defenses to check the rising Ohio, which they halted earlier this week.

17 Defendants in Oil Case to Appear March 3

Tent Cities Reared
Tent cities sprang up on highlands and ridges 30 miles from the river to house temporary "orphans of the flood." At Barton, near Helena, Ark., single concentration camp received 15,000 refugees. Ten additional centers were spotted. Thousands of others were removed to east Arkansas cities and to Memphis.

Every levee throughout the Mississippi system was holding today—and United States army engineers predicted they would continue to hold, barring the unexpected.

In Little Rock, Ark., Governor Carl E. Bailey declined eastern offers of help, declaring Arkansas wants to fight its own flood battle—with aid only from the United States army and Red Cross—"until we are completely licked."

Health hazards mounted. One out of every ten refugees suffered from sickness—influenza and pneumonia.

Wary physicians redoubled their efforts, needing typhoid and other vaccines into thousands who volunteered for treatment in the fight against plague.

Five mothers and thirty-nine babies were harbored in the juvenile court building. Ten expectant mothers waited for their "flood babies" in another make-shift hospital.

Stricken communities in middle western states pushed plans for rehabilitation, aided by state and federal governments, and the care of the homeless. These victims of the disaster numbered 1,085,000, latest estimates said, with 333 dead. Property loss estimates were $100,000,000.

Crest Reported Above Paducah, Ky.; Farms Deserted

BULWARKS RAISED

Coast Guard Cutters Looking for Weak Spots in Dikes

By the Associated Press
Flood waters of the north, unremitting after a $400,000,000 scourge of the Ohio river valley, began a plundering invasion into the heart of the deep south today.

Scores of villages and countless farms along the 200-mile stretch from Cairo, Ill., to Memphis, Tenn., swam deep in the rising yellow tide of the Mississippi, fed at a rate of nearly 3,000,000 cubic feet per second by the falling Ohio.

The crest was still to come—now hovering just above Paducah, Ky. Anxiety deepened in the beleaguered city of Cairo—a sunken island, a citadel 60 feet below the river—as the water crept ominously higher.

Silently, through the night, the debris-littered tide inched upward, reaching a stage of 58.4 feet—almost to the point reached before the Birds Point-New Madrid "fuse plug" was dynamited to save the city.

A new three-foot bulwark of sandbags, topping the 60-foot seawall, lent some comfort to the 5,000 remaining inhabitants. It was still to be tested, however, and the river was only 1.6 feet below the top of the concrete wall.

Army engineers predicted a crest of 62 feet.

Ranging southward from Cairo, a pick-and-shovel army of 100,000 toiled like beavers to fortify the billion-dollar levee system that guards the rich cotton delta lands along the Mississippi.

The slow surge of the flood, gathering enormous pressure on the bloated Ohio, spread over new territory last night and today.

The pilot of a plane returning from Memphis after an aerial survey of the Cairo-to-Memphis danger zone, reported whole villages under water.

The village of Tomato, Ark., was reported eaves-deep in muddy floodwaters. Most of the 300 residents perched in barn lofts, in attics and in second story rooms—waiting to be rescued or determined to "stick it out."

United States coast guard cutters shuttled up and down the restive waters on "bicket duty" to watch for weak spots or new breaks in the levees. Warned of impending danger, new hordes of refugees streamed from the low-lying marginal lands along the Mississippi.

Roosevelt Tries To Avoid Clashes Within New Deal

End of Conferences on 'Power Transmission' Pool Is Example

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Roosevelt has just written "finis" to a little episode of the campaign which is important only as it sheds light on the difficult and delicate task of one who seeks to travel the middle road as between extremists anxious to turn him to the right or to the left.

Mr. Roosevelt, it will be recalled, summoned Lawrence last autumn executives of the utility power companies and representatives of the TVA to discuss a "power transmission" pool. Widely used this heralded as a conciliatory move, designed to end the war between the government and the utilities. Some, who professed to see in Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy a good deal more conservatism than his foes in the business world did, were convinced that the president was not ready to see a $12,000,000 industry sabotaged by government ownership advocates.

This correspondent pointed out at the time that, while many persons would consider the president's power conference idea as a political gesture, the issues involved were fundamental and meant, explained by J. E. O'Connor of the association at the annual meeting of the Treat-Well Cheese factory patrons at Freedom Wednesday night. The group elected Joseph Garvey as their delegate to the association for the year. Ben Kabat is cheesemaker at the factory.

Progress made by the Wisconsin Cheese Publicity association in advertising farm products was explained by J. E. O'Connor of the association at the annual meeting of the Treat-Well Cheese factory patrons at Freedom Wednesday night. The group elected Joseph Garvey as their delegate to the association for the year. Ben Kabat is cheesemaker at the factory.

Mr. O'Connor discussed cheese consumption and told patrons that figures had been compiled showing that each patron uses about 12 pounds of cheese each year at an approximate cost of $1.92. "When we know the per capita consumption of cheese in the United States is 5 1/2 pounds a year, it is easy to figure that if city residents used cheese in the same amount as farmers do that enough cheese could not be produced at the present time," the speaker said.

Monday evening Mr. O'Connor addressed patrons of the Vinland factory in Winnebago county. A. R. Maxwell was elected as the group's delegate and patrons indicated that they would soon join the association.

Earl Armstrong was elected president of the Hough Cheese factory, Allenville, at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon. Harvey Peterson was elected secretary and treasurer with George Davey, director. Henry Boll is cheesemaker.

After the regular business meeting, A. E. Korth, treasurer of the publicity association, outlined plans of the organization. The factory patrons voted to support the program and elected Earl Armstrong as their delegate.

O'Connor of the association at the annual meeting of the Treat-Well Cheese factory patrons at Freedom Wednesday night. The group elected Joseph Garvey as their delegate to the association for the year. Ben Kabat is cheesemaker at the factory.

Mr. O'Connor discussed cheese consumption and told patrons that figures had been compiled showing that each patron uses about 12 pounds of cheese each year at an approximate cost of $1.92. "When we know the per capita consumption of cheese in the United States is 5 1/2 pounds a year, it is easy to figure that if city residents used cheese in the same amount as farmers do that enough cheese could not be produced at the present time," the speaker said.

Monday evening Mr. O'Connor addressed patrons of the Vinland factory in Winnebago county. A. R. Maxwell was elected as the group's delegate and patrons indicated that they would soon join the association.

Earl Armstrong was elected president of the Hough Cheese factory, Allenville, at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon. Harvey Peterson was elected secretary and treasurer with George Davey, director. Henry Boll is cheesemaker.

After the regular business meeting, A. E. Korth, treasurer of the publicity association, outlined plans of the organization. The factory patrons voted to support the program and elected Earl Armstrong as their delegate.

Patrons of Boss Cheese factory, west of Neenah, heard Mr. Korth discuss the publicity program at the annual meeting at the home of U. C. Boss Tuesday night. Mr. Boss was elected delegate of the group. T. W. Gast is the cheesemaker.

Reading of the book, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," will be completed by Miss Jeanette Clausen at the story hour for children at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in the children's room at the public library. A western story also will be read.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

The People of the Ohio Valley

The disaster which has befallen the people of the Ohio valley overshadows all other things in this country today, and the rescue of the victims, their medical care, and their rehabilitation have absolute first call on the resources of the whole nation. There is in fact no question of the willingness of the country to supply whatever aid may be needed. All that the people require is a clear statement of what is wanted: it will be available by free gift and by taxation that they will gladly approve.

There is some consolation for those of us who are not caught in the disaster to know that nothing will be left undone that can be done by the organized staff of the Red Cross and the government, and that they will ask us for all that they are able to take to the sufferers. That makes it a little more comfortable to sleep in one's own bed at night.

Toughest Job Faced In Task of Cleaning Up
For the homeless people of the valley, once their families and friends are accounted for and are known to be safe, the hardest aspect of the disaster is the thought that they must go back into the wreckage and into the slimy filth and clean it out and then start again to restore homes and shops and gardens which have taken so long to make. Of the hot courage that makes men brave in the face of death and destruction, there is much, and among the people of the Ohio valley it has been present in full measure. They have borne the catastrophe with a quiet courage that must make each of us hope he could in the same circumstances be worthy of their example. But as the immediate danger passes, the people of the valley will need that rarer and colder courage which carries men through disappointment and weariness and loss of hope.

Work of Rehabilitation Is To Be a Governmental Job
In some measure at least they may draw it from the knowledge that there will be no dispute whatever on the contrary there will be universal agreement that the rehabilitation of the valley and the construction of public works to prevent such disasters is a national obligation. At least, they can be certain that they will not be forgotten when the waters have receded and they have gone back wearily to the places where they live. That means more than the money and the materials; it means that the work of salvage and purification and reconstruction is not to be the lonely task of each homeless family, but a national effort which comprises all the homeless and Scouters present at the meeting were F. A. Buettner, Harvey Grosskopf, Melvin Lemke, C. V. Nygren, Herman Radner, C. A. Schmidt, Clarence Snyder and Milton W. Voelz, Bowler; the Rev. A. H. Grill, V. The next meeting will be held at 8:15 Tuesday evening Feb. 9 at the St. Francis Catholic church at Gresham.

Can Accommodate Girls in Maid Training Class

Demand for Trainees Exceeds Supply in New Appleton Course

With many residents desiring to hire girls who have obtained a certificate from the household service occupation class at the vocational school, more students can be enrolled in the classes, Mrs. Elizabeth Macaulay, instructor, said today.

Girls are placed in positions only after they have satisfactorily passed all tests and are ready for duty. Some of the girls who joined the first class already have obtained positions while others are still continuing work for the proficiency certificate, Mrs. Macaulay said.

The class is sponsored jointly by the Appleton Woman's club and the vocational school as a WPA project. The training center is the first of its kind in Wisconsin although 21 other states originated similar projects on federal funds during 1936.

After trainees have passed various tests, placement is provided through the Wisconsin State Employment Service Bureau. Girls may enter the class at any time as tests are given upon admittance in an effort to discover just what type of training the girl needs.

Classes are held at the Appleton Woman's clubrooms in the morning and at the vocational school in the afternoon. Practical experience for the trainees is included in class work although the girls have several times served teas at the clubrooms and prepared luncheons for the board of vocational education. Training includes instruction and practice in laundering, child care, administration of first aid, use of the telephone, answering doorbells, preparing and serving meals, washing dishes, using kitchen utensils and electrical devices, care and cleaning of house furnishings.

Want Servants Under Social Security Act

Madison—(AP)—The assembly gave its moral support Thursday to the "poor working girls" who labor in private homes.

Over the objection of Assemblyman Mary Kryszak (D) Milwaukee, it adopted a resolution asking congress to make the social security law applicable to domestic servants, also farmers.

Mrs. Kryszak contended that if congress accepted the advice the cost would be borne by housewives. She said most housemaids work only part time.

In the midst of much banter and debate, Assemblyman Genzmer (D) Mayville, sat silently. On the clerk's desk was his own pet resolution. It asked congress to ask the legislature to mind its own business.

Genzmer's resolution is destined to remain on the clerk's desk for the assembly vote to table it—virtually the same thing as killing it. So the members to congress will continue to flow.

Mother-to-be Should Try to Lead Normal, Happy Life

Madison — "Harelips are not caused by the mother seeing a rabbit before the child is born," declared the State Medical society in their health bulletin today.

"Young mothers are becoming educated rapidly, but there are still many who hold to old ideas and superstitions. One of the old ideas that still seems to persist in spite of our present scientific knowledge, is that if an expectant mother sees a rabbit the child will be born with a harelip. There is no basis for this superstition.

"Another old but still prevalent fancy is that if an expectant mother has a craving for an odd kind of food before the baby is born, the child will also have peculiar food cravings. Scientific study and research have proved that there is no possibility of the baby's being marked by seeing some strange sight or establishing strange 'cravings' because the expectant mother wanted certain foods.

Vomiting Not Healthy

"Another 'baby fancy' is that vomiting is a 'healthy sign' and should be allowed to continue until it stops of itself. Vomiting is never healthy. There is some cause for this and it should be corrected as early as possible. There are several causes for this vomiting. A few of them are as follows: Too much food at each meal; the baby may be handled too soon after feeding; the meal periods may be too close together; the formula may not be adjusted to meet the particular needs of the child. Something is wrong when the child vomits frequently, and the earlier the exact cause of the trouble is discovered, the better for the baby. In some severe cases, even the child's life may be at stake.

"A mother may harm her child, however, by giving way to nervousness and worry instead of being happy and calm. A mother-to-be or a mother with a new baby should live a normal, happy life, paying no attention to old-fashioned tales if she happens to hear them. If she remains calm and is reasonably healthy, the chances are that she will be able to nurse her child and that all will be well for both the mother and the baby."

Legislative Committee To Hold Weekly Meets

Plans for meeting at 4:30 each Friday afternoon to discuss bills in the state legislature were made by the legislative committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce at the organization meeting yesterday afternoon in the chamber offices. Several proposed bills were discussed but no action was taken.

See No Need for Improvement of Harbor at Fondy

Engineers Report Adversely on Proposed Winnebago Project

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—The board of rivers and harbors engineers of the war department has reported adversely on further improvement at Fond du Lac harbor and vicinity.

In a report to congress, Major General Edward Markham, chief of the board, declared against improvement except as authorized heretofore under the Fox river project.

Engineers reported that it would cost $32,200, with $3,000 in annual maintenance, to deepen the entrance channel at lighthouse harbor to a depth of six feet. The board concurred with the district engineer that proposed improvements would be of benefit largely to small local pleasure craft and that federal expense involved would not be warranted. The district engineer also reported that to enlarge the entrance might result in wave action that would damage boats in the inner harbor.

Makes Suggestion
He suggested in the report to congress that a better harbor would be secured by dredging a basin in the low lands inside the mouth of Fond du Lac harbor. While the estimated first cost of this would exceed by $6,300 the cost of completing the improvement of lighthouse harbor, the annual estimated cost would be $2,400 less.

The basin would then be protected from storms, engineers pointed out. Local interests, according to the report, do not favor this work, claiming it would increase pollution of the river sewage. This could be remedied, engineers said, by extension of an outfall sewer.

Improvements already authorized for Fond du Lac harbor include widening the channel and dredging to a depth of six feet from deep water in Lake Winnebago to the head of navigation in Fond du Lac harbor, two-thirds above its mouth. Cost of the new work here, according to the War Department, has been $8,357 in federal funds. Local interests have expended $12,000 and

His presentation will include tricks in writing upside down and backwards and he will also make caricatures of people in the audience.

Four Earn Places on Honor Roll of School

Four pupils of Valley View school, route 3, Appleton, earned scholastic averages of 90 or more during the third 6-week period of the school year, according to Miss Delia M. Burt, instructor. Lois Rahmlov had a perfect attendance record for January and Robert Techlin was neither absent nor tardy in 18 weeks of school.

Wisconsin WPA Rolls are Due for Sealing Downward

Liberals, Led by Boileau, Lose Fight for More Funds

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — Badger WPA rolls are due for a definite and thorough sealing down during the next few months, according to Administrator Harry Hopkins.

Despite the ardent fight put up by the liberal bloc in the house, headed by Representative Gerald J. Boileau of Wausau, to increase the appropriation of $790,000,000 as recommended by the president to a billion and forty million, the lesser appropriation was voted.

In hearings on the deficiency bill, Hopkins said that assuming $665,000,000 of the $790,000,000 asked for relief and work relief is available for the WPA and NYA, total enrollment on those projects will be reduced to 1,600,000 by June. At present he estimated WPA and NYA workers total 2,200,000.

Make Schedule
With a proportionate reduction by states, Hopkins scheduled relief employment for Wisconsin up to June as follows:

February, 50,200; March, 49,000; April, 45,700; May, 41,100; and June, 36,500.

Shouting until he was red in the face Boileau exhorted members to increase the relief appropriation, because present recovery does not justify this cut. He declared that in 1936 the increase in business amounted to 25 per cent, but in re-employment, not quite 8 per cent.

"Don't talk about the Great American Standard of Living," Boileau shouted, "if you can't pay WPA workers more money and a decent rate."

The greatest threat to the government, Boileau said, for communism, fascism, and other isms is that some people are not able to get enough out of the Democratic system of government. At least $40 a month should be the WPA minimum wage rate, he declared.

Eighty million is provided in the relief appropriation asked. "It will take $40,000,000 to rehabilitate as it should be done," Boileau declared. Hope for an increased appropriation is still held out through Senate action. Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Madison is one of a liberal bloc in that body who will attempt to get an increase.

Former Employee Wins Fight Over Job Compensation

Appeal Tribunal Rules Appleton Firm Must Pay Unemployment Benefits

A claim for benefits against the unemployment reserve account of the Badger Printing company, made by Edwin Millard, a former employee, has been upheld by an appeal tribunal of the unemployment compensation department of the state industrial commission following a hearing here which was one of the first of its kind in the state.

The employer denied unemployment benefits, claiming that the employee was discharged for misconduct connected with his employment, but the commission deputy's initial determination overruled the employer's denial. The employer appealed.

Millard took issue with the claim of the printing company that he had misrepresented his abilities at the time of hiring. The commission determined that Millard made no specific representation as to his speed of production other than might be inferred from his statement that he was an experienced pressman.

"If there was misrepresentation, it could have been discovered during the probationary period, since he was retained beyond that," the commission decided.

"The appeal tribunal, therefore, finds that neither the representation made by the employee at the time of hiring, nor the failure of this employee to meet the standards of production set by the employer, constitute misconduct within the meaning of the section 108.04 (m) (a)."

Commission Hears Five Cases Under Compensation Act

Hearings Conducted in Council Chambers At City Hall

Five cases under the workmen's compensation act were being heard by the state industrial commission today in the council chambers at the city hall.

The first hearing this morning was the case of Carl Last, route 4, Green Bay, who is seeking compensation for an injury suffered on March 11 while in the employ of the Northern Paper company. Last claims he suffered permanent disability of a leg which was fractured when he fell off a car of pulp wood.

Roman Mullen, 1801 N. Bennett street, wants compensation for a knee and neck injury which he claims he suffered while fixing a tire while working for the Outagamie county highway committee on Jan. 16, 1936.

The case of John Loessel versus West End Beer depot, Appleton, was to be heard this afternoon. Loessel, 918 W. Harris street, claims the company owes him part of wages for work from July 30 to Oct. 12, 1936.

Claiming she suffered a fractured leg and other bruises when attacked by a bull at the Tom Grimms farm, route 2, Neenah, Mrs. Herman Wieland, 760 1/2 Plant road, Menasha, seeks compensation from his estate. The accident occurred on July 19, 1936, she claims.

The case of Harold Gainer, 525 W. College avenue, versus the Appleton Toy and Furniture company also was to be heard this afternoon. Gainer claims compensation for an injury at the plant on Sept. 19, 1936. He claims he injured his fingers in the accident and part of one had to be amputated.

Marshal Forces Of Local Groups To Raise Funds

Medicines and money solicited by the Salvation Army in Wisconsin are assigned by the adjutant general to Missouri.

The first truck load from the Salvation Army, Appleton, will leave Saturday. About 100 bundles of clothing have been received up to this morning at the Temple on Morrison street. Cash donations also are beginning to come in from city and county citizens.

Red Cross officials today were planning to contact officials of city schools and Lawrence college for collecting contributions of students. Several schools already have sent in contributions.

Raise Relief Fund A fund was being raised today by employees at the county court house and $34 was raised this morning with the canvass still incomplete.

Red Cross collections at Kaukauna this morning topped the $200 mark and it is expected the amount will be doubled by Saturday when the funds will be forwarded to the relief areas. Mrs. H. Elm is in charge of the collection fund in that city.

Neenah Sends $1,972 Neenah's contributions for the flood sufferers totaled $1,972 and the amount was $2,000 by tonight.

About $150 was collected by the Red Cross at Menasha yesterday, bringing the flood relief fund for that city to $450. Donations are still being taken.

Members of the Appleton police department today added their contributions being raised for the relief of flood sufferers in the Ohio river valley. Chief of Police George T. Prim brought $23 to the Red Cross office, given by department members.

It Is Said--

That although aldermen went under a flat salary rate back in 1933 and no longer receive extra wages for committee meetings, many persons still believe they do. One alderman was particularly peeved recently when told by an acquaintance that he shouldn't mind going to committee meetings because he was paid extra for them.

TRANSIENT FAILS TO HEED SUGGESTIONS: GETS TERM IN CAMP

Next time a policeman tells John Sorenson, 44, Racine, to get out of town, John probably will "git."

Police encountered Sorenson Thursday and suggested that he go elsewhere. They met him again later and repeated the suggestion.

When they found him the third time, seeking financial assistance on N. Appleton street, they escorted him to the station. This morning, in municipal court, he pleaded guilty of vagrancy and was sentenced by Judge Thomas H. Ryan to 60 days in the county detention camp.

Fred Rouse, Neddo, Mich., roused Sheriff John Lappen about 2 o'clock this morning to request lodging for the remainder of the night at the county jail. Fred apparently had been around quite a bit before he arrived at the jail, however, and in court this morning he pleaded guilty of drunkenness. He also will spend 60 days at the detention camp.

This Is the Story of How Six Men Fought Ohio River to Save Hospital went from patient to patient in the hospital itself, from army cot to army cot in the annex, six men for five days fought their hand-to-hand duel with the river below.

Above pneumonia patients gasped for breath, influenza patients burned with fever, exhausted relief workers slept spraddled out on the floor, babies cried in their own tiny ward.

No Pause in Fight But there was no rest for the six volunteers battling two feet of water on the Preston street side, threatening every moment to get the better of them, force evacuation of patients. Once the water hit the boilers the hospital itself and the $500,000 annex, cleaned of loose plaster and wired for electricity in five hours when the crisis came, would lose much of their power to help.

These men in the light of dim bulbs, were building sandbag bulwarks against the water, replacing them as water soaked through. They fused vacuum pumps to the furnaces, to throw in the water seeping up through the underground floor and the sides of the boiler room. They kept live steam hissing through the pipes to the wards above. They spoke rarely, hardly above monotones. Their names?

"Aw, what does it matter?" demanded a dark man, his face white with exhaustion through the black of his whiskers. "If you want to do something, grab some of those bags."

Heroic Phone Girls Upstairs again, you find four telephone girls who have worked five days too, snatching an hour's rest at a time in their chairs. They handled 11,000 calls, for help, for ambulances, doctors, nurses, provisions. Two more broke down, joined the patients in the water seeping up through the underground floor and the sides of the boiler room. They kept live steam hissing through the pipes to the wards above. They spoke rarely, hardly above monotones. Their names?

In another section are 40 firemen and policemen who cracked finally under the strain of endless duty. As you stand there a policeman brings a fireman in, half over his shoulders. A doctor examines the fireman, then looks closely at the policeman, and winds up putting both of them to bed.

There are 55 doctors on the staff, hundreds of nurses, 150 medical students on call. And the job is only beginning for all but the six nameless men down below, now the water has started back.

"I believe there have been 400 prepared for burial or already transferred to cemeteries in the highlands," said the Hospital Superintendent, Dr. J. B. Buschmeyer, "and the real work is still ahead."

The highest flood stage estimate by city officials has been 200.

The suit was based on a traffic accident at N. Oneida street and Wisconsin avenue last September in which a car driven by Salentine was involved. Mrs. Kahler was walking across the avenue and claimed she was struck by Salentine's car and suffered severe injuries.

Trial of the case opened Thursday morning but the defendant offered no proof. The jury began its deliberations about 10:30 and returned a verdict at 2:15.

The jury was composed of George Driessen, Sr., Charles J. Falk, Harold Hearden, Joseph Fiske, Theodore Lembecke, Harry Koehnke, Michael Peters, Martin Cahill, Fred Scheffe, Otto Stapel, W. M. Olson, and George F. Miller, all of Appleton.

Through an error the Post-Crescent Saturday reported that representatives of the Home Mutual Casualty company who are stationed in the northeastern division of Wisconsin held a noon luncheon at the Conway hotel. The meeting was held by the Hardware Mutual Casualty company instead of by the Home Mutual Casualty company.

Install Matt Miller As Hi-Y Club Leader Allan Matt Miller was installed as leader of the Hi-Y club at the regular meeting last night at the Y. M. C. A. The club officers met as an executive committee in the afternoon and prepared projects which will be carried out as club activities this year. Sections of the constitution have been revised for the new term.

Pegler Recalls That He Was 'Blighted' as Boy

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—Captain Joe Patterson, the owner of the New York Daily News, is always ribbing the publishers of other papers about their employment of little boys, or urchins, as newsboys and route carriers because he regards this as child labor and is against it. It is always nice to see a penitent sinner whooping "hallelujah" on the mourners' bench but what I want to know is, what about me?

Because a long time ago, when I was an urchin in Chicago, my mouth got blighted amid the sordid influences of the city streets in the services of the Chicago Tribune from which Captain Patterson derived his original fortune. I got blighted both ways, peddling and delivering Captain Patterson's old paper, but, in justice to him, I have to say that he exploited my childhood only half as much as Mr. Hearst. He exploited me only in the a. m., but Mr. Hearst sapped my vitality, stunted my growth, corrupted my morals and clouded my young dreams both morning and evening. Old Victor Lawson, who then owned the Chicago Daily News, Old Hutch, the owner of the defunct Evening Journal and the proprietors of the Inter-Ocean and Record-Herald blighted me, too, and before that up in place called Excelsior, Minn., I took a pretty good blighting from three Minneapolis publishers, only one of whom I can remember by name. His name was Murphy and the paper now belongs to his son, a big, fat, black-haired man, I saw him in a nightclub one night down in Palm Beach drinking champagne and I felt like telling him that every bubble was a shattered ideal of mine, every drop a blood sacrifice of an innocent child. But then I figured that maybe, some day, my syndicate might want to sell him my stuff, on which I get a percentage, I kept my mouth shut.

Cant Tell Difference Between Right, Wrong

I know that was sordid commercialism and unworthy of the tradition of journalistic independence, but we didn't raise any feeble-minded children in our family and, anyway, I have just been telling you, I got blighted, so I can't tell the difference between right and wrong.

Between times I got blighted as a pin boy in a bowling alley and as bottle-washer in a drug store where I learned to stretch whisky with tap-water.

I agree with Captain Patterson that child labor in the circulation branch of the newspaper business is very bad for the morals of the little merchants because my father was a famous evangelist who didn't drink, smoke, chew or use profane language and yet I was pretty good at all these activities before I was 16 years old. I also learned to shoot crap, but I was too dumb to remember the odds against 10 the hard way and all those other combinations, so I gave that up.

In the mornings, though, I used to swear quite a lot, especially when people would leave clothes on the line on their back porches which would interfere with accurate throwing of the papers which were rolled up and tied with string. After two or three trials with the paper tumbling back down I would cut loose with a blast and haul it all the way up to the third floor by hand, kicking and stomping on the stairs to wake people up way of revenge.

What Would You Expect Of A Blighted Urchin?

Maybe that way was wrong, but what do you expect of an urchin and why didn't they take in their clothes at night.

Captain Patterson cites the testimony of Warden Lawes that 69 per cent of the scholars at Sing Sing were newsboys, and I won't argue with statistics, but I can say that the only two urchins in our neighborhood who went to prison were too smart to be little merchants. They didn't care for some of that 4 o'clock in the morning stuff and they couldn't be bothered hopping street cars in the evening selling sheets for a profit of one-third of a cent when they could cut the lead plumbing or copper wire out of a building and get two dollars from the junkman.

Did I ever tell you how I came to quit getting blighted?

Well, it was a Sunday, and a blizzard on the lake front, and I was showing my little wagon of Sunday papers through the snow when, all of a sudden, the wind blew away about 20 Tribunes and while I was chasing the pieces it blew my route book into the lake. That made me thoroughly disgusted, so I just went home, leaving wagon, route book, papers and all, and when the route-boss called up to tell me I was fined $3 I said, "oh, shut your face."

Peiping, China, will soon have standard time for the first time in history when the city government installs seven electric clocks at various places throughout the city.

Your Income Tax

WHEN TO REPORT

Of the millions of income-tax returns that are filed annually, the vast majority are from salaried persons and wage earners whose income is derived from personal services.

In general, compensation for personal services should be reported for taxation purposes in the year it is received or unqualifiedly made subject to demand. Compensation credited to the account of or set apart for a taxpayer, without any substantial limitation or restriction, and which may be drawn upon by him at any time, is subject to tax for the year during which so credited or set apart, although not then actually reduced to possession. If the services were rendered during the year 1935, or even prior thereto, but the compensation was not received, or made unqualifiedly subject to demand, by the taxpayer until the year 1936, the entire amount is taxable in the year received, or made unqualifiedly subject to demand, when the taxpayer is reporting on the cash receipts and disbursements basis, which is the basis used by most persons in reporting net income.

by transmittal form 1096 showing the number of returns filed. These returns should be filed on or before Feb. 15, 1937.

All of the various types of compensation, unless specifically exempt by statute, or exempt by fundamental law, should be included in the taxpayer's return of gross income, such as salaries, wages, fees, commissions, bonuses, tips, honoraria, prizes, awards, retiring allowances for past services, etc. Where services are paid for in whole or in part with something other than money, the fair market value of the thing taken in payment must be included as income. Other items subject to tax are fees received by ministers of the gospel for funerals, baptisms, masses, and like services; executor fees; directors' fees; federal jury fees; and prizes received in contests of various kinds.

The salaries of Federal officers and employees are subject to tax, including the salary of the president of the United States and judges of the courts of the United States taking office after the date of enactment of the Revenue Act of 1932, which was June 6, 1932. The salary of the vice president of the United States, and the salaries of members of the house of representatives and the members of the United States senate are also subject to income tax.

Hollywood News And Gossip

By Robin Coca

Hollywood — Film factory: The "Man of the People" set is dominated today by the fluttery charm of Catharine Doucet, by a strange invention labeled a goldfinder but resembling a modernistic pagoda, and by a butterfly.

Mrs. Doucet, in one of her lightest and bluest moods, is doing what is apparently another silly society woman. She is enjoying a group of dress extra to listen to Inventor Jonathan Hale, who is to explain the gold-finder for their benefit.

They are shooting the scene after several rehearsals. Mrs. Doucet has fluttered, and flickered her eyelashes, and Hale is launched on his speech and demonstration, when the butterfly, fluttering and flickering, swoops into the scene and breaks it up. The crowd, laughing, gives chase.

"Doucet's stand-in!" someone exclaims. . .

The garret room of Diane and Chico (Simone Simon and James Stewart) in "Seventh Heaven" is an elevated set, 10 feet above the stage floor. The camera takes in the room and shoots through a window from which a catwalk connects the room with that of their neighbors, Mady Christians and Victor Kilian.

Today's scene has Chico and the neighbors entering via the catwalk to tell Diane triumphantly that Chico has received his certificate as a street-cleaner, thus being graduated from Paris sewer service.

To the camera's eye they seem to run on the catwalk high in the air, with Montmartre in the background. Heights make Simone dizzy, and she must make that journey several times for the picture. She has practiced walking a board only slightly elevated from the floor. For further precaution—for all the actors—a staunch life net of rope and canvas is spread under the walk. One drop, by an actor, even a 10-foot drop, would make a big dent in the production schedule.

"Ada Beats the Drum" with Alice Brady and Guy Kibbee, is now known as "Burnt Fingers," after a mere two days in production. Neither Kibbee nor Miss Brady is working today, which is a break for them as it is raining.

From where I am, I can see Betty Furness, sitting there knitting, and across from her, off stage, a trainer perched on a stool and waving instructions to his pet, concerned from me by a set wall. Stanley Morner enters, bawls out Betty, she leaves and the dog does whatever it is supposed to do.

"Cute dog!" an admirer breathes. I move over to see. The "cute dog" is the greatest Great Dane (named Baun) I ever hope to see.

Club Book Review Circle Hears Discussion of Life Of John James Audubon

ONCE the copper plates of his bird prints were sold as junk. Today he is canonized as a saint by every bird lover in the country. That is the story of John James Audubon, American ornithologist, parts of whose biography, "Singing in the Wilderness," by Donald Culross Peattie, were read by Mrs. Walter E. Rogers at a meeting of the book review circle of the Appleton Womans club Thursday afternoon at the club rooms.

Mrs. Rogers read first of Audubon's birth in Santo Domingo the latter part of the eighteenth century, the son of Captain Audubon and a high-born native woman, and of his early education in France. He began drawing pictures of birds when he was a child, but at the end of each year, he destroyed all those he had done, so that the only ones left to the world today are those he drew after he was 19. His father's attempts to make him a sailor failed, and the boy begged to be allowed to study art. He pleaded that he had to learn how to draw because his birds looked stiff and unable to fly.

So he went to Paris to study art, but birds were apparently an unheeded subject for painting in those days, and Audubon became discouraged with the work. When he asked his father's permission to go to America, it was granted. On April 10, 1804, shortly after he arrived in this country, he drew a picture of a phoebe—he had gone daily to a cave in which he had found a nest, waiting for the bird's return from the south—and in that moment, Mrs. Rogers said, was born Audubon's famed ornithological biography.

During the years that followed, while he suffered business failures and hardships, he continued to draw the American birds as he saw them.

When his collection of pictures finally seemed to him large enough, he sought a publisher for them. Eventually in London, he engaged Robert Havell and his son, Robert Havell, Jr., to engrave and color the series, and the pictures were an immediate success. The last years of Audubon's life were spent in tranquility with his wife and children in his home on the Hudson in New York.

Mrs. Rogers' reading of parts of the biography was made especially interesting by the fact that she could show to her listeners several of the original Audubon prints made by the Havells. They included a picture of snow buntings, which are most often seen in this vicinity at Oshkosh. Mrs. Rogers said of the Maryland yellow-throat, also seen in Wisconsin; of a waterthrush on an Indian turnip; and of buffleheads, called by hunters the butterball.

"Whatever may be said against his pictures artistically, they certainly show things as they appear to the human eye," Mrs. Rogers said, as she called attention to the equal force with which he represented foreground, middle ground and background, instead of concentrating on one thing.

Mrs. James Wagg, president of the Woman's club, who introduced Mrs. Rogers, announced that Mrs. L. M. Howser would review the year's second best seller, "The Last Puritan," by George Santayana, at next Thursday's meeting of the circle.

School Children Enjoy Claire Tree Major Play

BY NELLIE CHAMBERLAIN

THE Lawrence chapel rang with the shouts of the most enthusiastic and unsophisticated audience it has seen in some time when nearly 1,200 children crowded into it yesterday afternoon to see the Claire Tree Major players present "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

Their technique being designed especially for child audiences, the players depended to a great extent on pantomime to get across the story and hold the attention of the children. It was noticeable that in the scenes presenting much activity and pantomime the audience responded more readily and completely than in the dialogue sequences. Clear and distinct enunciation was one of the outstanding features of yesterday's performance, each of the actors making himself heard and understood in all parts of the auditorium.

The audience composed almost entirely of children was a trifle restless at first and did not settle down to strict attention until about halfway through the first act, but after that the youngsters glued their eyes on the stage and followed the adventures of Rebecca and her friends until the end of the play, greeting the dimming of lights before each act with hand clapping and squeals of delight.

Like Comedians
The audience liked the comedy roles, particularly Bije, the chore boy at the Sawyer home, and Minnie Smellie, playmate of Rebecca and Emma Jane. The comedy was broad and easily detected, with a view to the childish audience, and most of the humorous situations were pointed up in order that the youngsters might fully appreciate them. The kindly stage coach driver won the children over completely.

Evidently most of the children at yesterday's performance had at one time or another dressed up in their parents' clothes and been scolded for it, for the audience seemed fully aware of the import of the scenes in which Rebecca and her two friends raid the wash basket for costumes to wear while acting out a fairy story, and shrieks and exclamations were heard from all sides as the actors struggled into Aunt Miranda's dress and draped themselves in her lace curtains.

Like To Laugh
The childish flirtation of Bije and Emma Jane delighted the children,

Children Can Act as Arbiters for Parents

BY DOROTHY DIX

The judge of a domestic relations court recently appointed the children of a quarrelsome husband and wife as arbiters of their parents' disputes and to keep the peace between them. This is a ruling worthy of Solomon himself in its wisdom, for if anything on earth could shock a crazily angry man and woman, engaged in hurling insults at each other, into sanity and a realization of the crime they were committing it would be to see themselves as they look to their children and to have their children's cold impartial verdict on their conduct.

DOROTHY DIX

Strangely enough the children's point of view never seems to occur to the belligerent couples who fight out every difference of opinion to the last bitter round before the horrified eyes of their offspring. They think they have a right to pull off their fights on their own hearthstones and that it doesn't matter that Junior and Mary have to listen to father call mother vile names and mother retaliate by accusing father of half the crimes in the calendar.

As a general thing, these warring parents are not deliberately trying to discredit each other with their children. They are merely giving vent to their own tempers and revenging their own grievances. And they would be genuinely amazed to know that the result of their scrapping is to fill their children with a profound contempt for them both.

Junior and Mary are not the senseless little dummies, seeing nothing and hearing nothing, that you appear to be as they eat their cereal and orange juice while Mother and Father bawl each other out over the breakfast table. They are taking in every detail of the whole ugly scene. All the recriminations and recriminations are registering in their minds and they are feeling sorry for themselves because they have to live in an atmosphere of rancor and because things are never jolly and pleasant at their homes as they are at Tom's and Sally's and they are thinking that their parents are giving them a raw deal and dragging them into disputes with which they have nothing to do.

There is not a day that there does not come to this column pitiful and desperate letters from helpless youngsters who are being ground to pieces between the upper and nether millstones of their parents' tempers. "What can we do to stop our parents from quarreling?" they ask. "They never say a pleasant word to each other. It is always just fighting over everything and saying mean hateful things to each other and accusing each other of doing terrible things. There is never any peace and quiet."

"We love both our mother and father. They are good to us and we don't want to take sides against either. We have a nice home and we could be so happy if only Father and Mother didn't fight all the time." And sometimes a boy or girl will add a pathetic postscript saying "I have got so nervous over my father and mother quarreling all the time that I can't keep my mind on my books any more and am falling behind in my studies." And yet people with children think their quarrels with their husbands and wives are their own personal affairs!

What these children whom the wise judge has appointed to referee their parents' fights will say to them, I do not know, but I can imagine them saying: "Gee, Mom and Pop, have a heart. You brought us into the world without our asking for it and it is up to you to give us a fair chance to grow up into healthy, decent men and women, and we can't do that if we have to live in an atmosphere of hate that poisons us, and have our nerves wrecked by being in a perpetual row. How can we believe in truth and loyalty and high ideals and fine principles when we hear our father and mother accuse each other

Checks for Spring

Checks appear in some of the Paris midseason clothes which may be chosen for early spring wear. Rosevienne uses a black and white checked silk and wool mixture to make the short swaggar jacket which tops a black wool frock. A red crepe scarf, bordered with checked fringe, makes a bold splash in the costume worn with a black felt hat banded in white pique.

Singer Gives Definition of Popularity

BY ELSIE PIERCE

EVER so often young girls write me asking for a success formula for popularity. Girls in their teens are more interested in being popular than in being beautiful. I am therefore particularly happy to pass on Miss Elizabeth Rethberg's definition of popularity. This beloved soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company has known true popularity . . . people who talk to her or even stand around her are always smiling. She is always surrounded by admiring groups. And she believes that "in order to be popular a girl must have something to give to the people about her."

"Every girl," says Mme. Rethberg, "has some special gift or particularly attractive quality. She should get to work and develop this gift until she stands out above the average. Then people will notice her and be interested in her. It is not enough to be good looking or to dance well. Looks and little social graces help of course, but they must be supplemented by something else. In addition one must perhaps be a good conversationalist, or play, or sing, or excel in athletics or have some hobby that one is absolutely interested in. Next, and very important, comes a willingness to exercise one's talent for the engagement of others. The important thing is to rise above the level of the average in some one hobby at least—and, of course, to be friendly and have an amiable disposition."

To my mind Mme. Rethberg has outlined here a very important element of charm. Cultivation of hobbies is in itself a tremendous beauty asset. It stimulates one's interest, keeps one alert, eyes sparkling, spirit soaring.

On the subject of beauty, Mme. Rethberg says: "Making yourself beautiful is like setting out on a grand adventure. Knowing you will return happier and richer. Experiment wisely, determine what is best for you and will bring out the best in you. You can work miracles with yourself. Patience and imagination can help you. She feels that simple, healthful beauty methods are best. She herself uses a fine cleansing cream followed by soap and water. Occasionally she washes the face with warm milk, then uses some kind of astringent to tone the skin. She uses tissue cream at night, concentrating on the "wrinkle-areas."

She always devotes five minutes after rising to setting-up exercises and indulges in some sport all year round, skiing in winter, swimming or rowing in summer, horseback riding, cycling and hiking.

My complete new booklet "Radiance by Diet" (Booklet 201) is yours for ten cents. It covers the subject thoroughly. Send for it, giving your name and full address to The Bell Library, care this newspaper, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y.

have asked me to print regularly each week:

1—Is the tissue paper left in commencement announcements or invitations when they are mailed? And why your answer?

Answer: It is correct to remove the tissue paper before mailing the announcements or invitations. But if you think the ink has not dried sufficiently to prevent the clean page from getting smudged, then this is a sensible enough reason for leaving it.

2—When some one says "How do you do" is it correct to say "I am fine, thank you" or is "How do you do" to be taken only as a greeting?

Answer: "How do you do" is a punctilious greeting to which the customary response is also "How do you do."

3—When the girls first invited us boys to go to their sorority dances, we took it for granted that we were to be their guests and that the evening would cost us comparatively little. It is not that we want to be spongers but it's the principle of their arrangement of waiting to buy tickets until at the door that rubs us the wrong way. Naturally we don't let the girls stand there buying our tickets. We are inclined to

Letters of the Alphabet

V—FROM U TO Z

Now we come to the last six letters of our alphabet. These letters are not so much used as most of the other letters.

"U" goes back to the days of ancient Greece, and was called "upsilon." It was pronounced about the same as our "oo" sound, as in the word "brute." The Greeks made the letter like a "Y" or "V." The Romans almost always wrote it as "V," but as time went on the letter was given the form of a "U" to set it aside from the "V."

"Y" is the last letter in our alphabet but it has several places in the old Greek alphabet. The Greeks called it "zeta." At an earlier time the Phoenicians called this letter "zayin," meaning "dagger." The form kept changing as the centuries passed, and in Roman times it looked like the present-day "Y." In England it is the old custom to pronounce the name of the letter as "zed."

When we look at the letters of the alphabet, it is interesting to think that almost all of them were pictures of certain objects in the beginning. The hands, the head, the eye, the teeth and the mouth are parts of the human body, which were used as models for some of them. Others came from drawings of such things as a house, a door, a window, a dagger, a fish or the waves of the sea.

The people of many nations have helped to build the alphabet as we know it today. Egypt, Phoenicia, Palestine, Greece and Rome seem to have done most to give us the great gift.

Parents Have Neglected Cooking as Child's Hobby

BY ANGELO PATRI

Cooking as a hobby for children is almost neglected. Yet it is one of the most interesting and valuable that children can have. A good cook is an artist welcomed everywhere for the gifts he bears in his hands. The way to the heart of the world is through its stomach by way of the cook.

Cooking is great fun. Once a week or so, give the boys and girls a chance to show what they can do. On the younger they begin the better. Little children who have to stand on a box to reach the table can mix and sift and bake with the best. Just give them a chance.

Begin with simple things of course. Teach them to save the kitchen in as good order as they found it. All dishes washed and in their places. All trace of the work removed. That is one of the fundamental rules of the game. Nothing left for somebody else to clean up.

Each child will develop his specialty. Boys like to broil steaks and make French fried potatoes. One boy I know makes the best spaghetti with tomato sauce that can be found in town. He is as proud of that accomplishment as he is of his music, which is first class. Girls have more variety in their menus because they get more practice. They run to candy and cookies and icebox cakes, but they manage the more substantial dishes when they are given a chance. Too many people shoo the boys out of the kitchen.

Nowadays new houses have play-rooms in the cellar. Here there is often an electric stove, full kitchen service. No finer place can children have. They can cook, serve, entertain their friends in this room away from the family, and get more valuable, healthy amusement out of it than they could get in a dozen formal parties.

Cooking is an accomplishment. Good cooks wield great social power. They make home the pleasant-est place in the world for those who live in it. They build and maintain the health and happiness of the family. They put joy into living. Boys will turn homeward at the thought of hot doughnuts waiting for them. Tired men will walk with quicker step toward the savory, tempting dinner that they know is being prepared for them. "Civilized men cannot live without cooks."

There is poetry in cooking. The color and texture, the smells and tastes of the kitchen do rise above the mere physical. Man does not live by bread alone. He lives by the color of it, the perfume of it, the beauty of form and texture that are inherent in it. One does not eat an apple just to fill his stomach. If the apple had no color, no perfume, no beauty of form, he might eat it to stave off hunger, but he would not feel the thrill of appreciation that runs down his spine, up the roof of his mouth, down to the tip of his tongue that makes him smile from ear to ear at the very thought of an apple. So it is with three meals a day, if a good cook prepares them.

Give the children a chance. And if you have a good cook in the household praise them, for he is truly wonderful.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

So West and South Each Draw Penalty on This One

(Copyright, 1937, Ely Culbertson)

(Mr. Culbertson is acting as referee on five hands sent to him by a correspondent. He was asked to fine the players for errors of bidding and play according to degree. This is the fourth hand of the series.)

My correspondent had the following remarks to make in connection with the hand discussed today: "What is termed in aviation circles a 'dog fight' developed over this remarkable hand. Everybody accused everybody else of committing some ghastly error. East is the only one who maintains that he was entirely guiltless throughout the bidding and play, and indeed, the rest of us agree with his contention. So let the fines fall where they may!"

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH		EAST
AKQJ9	None	85432	None
AK874	None	109652	None
AKQ54	None	8	None
WEST		SOUTH
None	85432	None	8
AKQ8743	None	109652	None
AKQ5	None	8	None
9832	None	109632	None
	AKQJ76		None

The bidding:
North    East    South    West
1 spade    Pass    2 diam.    2 hearts
4 diam.    5 diam.    6 clubs    Double
Redouble    Pass    Pass    Pass

"West led the ace of hearts, which declarer ruffed in his own hand, while discarding a diamond from the dummy. The trumps then were picked up. Declarer discarded three of his own diamonds on dummy's long spades, and finally conceded one diamond trick to West, making his six clubs redoubled. East almost had a fit, believing that his five diamond bid was an absolute demand for his partner to open diamonds if the opponents played the hand in some other trump suit.

(Obviously, on a diamond opening, East could have ruffed and returned a spade which West would have ruffed.)

"West maintained that East 'might be fooling' in his diamond cue bid, and that he saw no reason to jeopardize a certain diamond trick by leading away from his queen-jack. South gave North the devil for not taking him back to six diamonds, which would have been safe against any lead, and North retorted that he already had given a double raise in diamonds and that South could go back by himself. Can you unscramble this mess?"

"Mess" is right! The only player who bid properly was East. After his diamond cue bid, which the other three players should have read as representing a blank suit, both North and South were criminally stupid to contract for six clubs rather than six diamonds. As for West's double and subsequent lead of the heart ace, these were errors almost too horrible to mention. The double was not nearly as bad as the lead, because he could figure on East's ruffing an opening diamond lead and probably returning a spade. There was absolutely no excuse for East to imagine that his own partner "was fooling" in such an important cue bid.

Although South made the contract, his play was so bad that it makes all the other errors look innocent. On a vulnerable, redoubled contract, an extra trick is not to be sneezed at, and it was his for the asking. To ruff the ace of hearts in his own hand had no point whatsoever. A ruff in the dummy would have permitted a diamond discard, and he later could have discarded his other three losing diamonds on dummy's spades for a cold seven. If West had properly passed the six club bid to East, the latter would have bid six hearts, which would have been a laydown, and if the opponents ran out, they could be defeated at any higher contract.

West and South draw limit fines, class D, on this hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Question: Dealer opened with one diamond. My partner (second hand) doubled. Third hand passed, and I held the following:

AKJ108    108653    97    86.

What should have been my response?

Answer: One heart.

Traffic Charges Top List Of Police Arrests in 1936

Traffic charges, particularly violation of the 90-minute parking ordinance and speeding, headed the list of 581 arrests made by Appleton police during 1936, according to the annual report of Chief of Police George T. Prim.

Alleged violation of the 90-minute rule brought 175 persons into court while 116 were charged with speeding.

The list of traffic cases also shows 37 charges of failure to stop for an arterial, 21 of operating a motor vehicle without a license, 15 of drunken driving, 13 of operating a car without proper plates or with-

Measure Would Penalize Careless Ballot Officials

Budlong's Bill Is Out- growth of Handrich- Russell Dispute

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison — Arising out of the recent disputed election of Assemblyman Alvin A. Handrich, (Prog.) Manawa, a bill has been introduced by Assemblyman C. A. Budlong, (Rep.) Marinette, which would penalize careless election officials.

Assemblyman Budlong's bill provides that "any election official who shall fail to properly write his name or initials upon a ballot or shall deliver to any voter a ballot not properly endorsed as required" shall be disqualified as an election official. The bill provides for a fine of $5 or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than 10 days. Each ballot improperly endorsed or delivered will be a separate offense, under the terms of the bill.

Assemblyman Budlong declared that in the contest between Assemblyman Handrich and Edward Russell, Ogdensburg Republican, recently, some citizens were disfranchised through the carelessness of election officials. Ballots improperly marked were thrown out, he said, with the result that some citizens in the last election, through no fault of their own, were not able to vote.

Two Tax Bills
Assemblyman Handrich, working with Assemblyman Arthur D. Kelly, (Prog.) Hudson, and John D. Kostuck, (Prog.) Stevens Point, has also introduced two bills relating to taxes. One would extend the time 1936 real estate taxes to July 1, 1937.

The second would authorize county boards to purchase delinquent taxes from local governmental units, which Mr. Handrich said, would eliminate interest payments to the state governments for the non-payment of state taxes by local governments. Counties would take over and assume the delinquent taxes of any town, city or village in the county, exclusive of penalties.

Mr. Handrich is also at work on several agricultural bills. One, he said, would affect the growers and sellers of livestock.

When is a number magnetic?

WHEN IT ATTRACTS MORE AND MORE NUMBERS TO ITSELF!

The average net paid circulation of the Post-Crescent on December 31 last was 17,052 and that, ladies and gentlemen, is as fine an example of non-scientific magnetism as ever you have seen. Back about a year ago, the circulation total was well under 16,000, and yet we were pretty pleased with the fact that more Post-Crescents were being bought and read every day than at any previous time in the history of this newspaper.

It was about that time, that the circulation figure acquired its powers of magnetism and commenced to climb. Right before our eyes was and is being demonstrated the fact that people like to go where the crowds are.

Call it better times. Call it improvements in the newspaper. Call it better service to subscribers. Call it all those things and you'll probably be right. The fact remains that it's no accident that Post-Crescent circulation is running nearly two thousand ahead of the balmy days of '28 and '29.

The fact also remains that something of the same magnetism that attracts readers to the Post-Crescent is also attracting them to the stores whose advertising appears on these pages daily.

Menominee at Green Bay East.
(Non-conference game.)

Appleton High school basketball team will resume Fox River Valley conference play, after a week's idleness, when it invades Green Bay West this evening. Both the reserve and varsity squads will make the trip.

Although Appleton leads league teams with four wins against one defeat and West is down the line with two wins and three defeats, Coach Joseph Shields of the Terrors hasn't been letting his charges take things easy.

West boasts a goodly number of big, tall boys who have been playing better ball in almost every start and Shields is afraid they may up and spank his proteges tonight. To offset any confidence the Terrors may have acquired, Shields has been pushing them hard in every drill and telling them tall tales about West's possibilities.

There will be no changes in the Terror lineup tonight, Meyers will be at center, McKeefry, Bowers and Bailey will show at the forwards and Slattery and Sellers at the guards.

The feature game of the week will be Manitowoc at Oshkosh where Coach Shields is hoping the lake shore team will bump the aspiring Indians. In the other league game Sheboygan goes to Fond du Lac and should win easily.

Jake Schaefer Holds
Big Lead Over Hoppe

Chicago —(P)— Jake Schaefer of Chicago held a 322 point lead today over William Hoppe of New York in their 2,500 point match for the world's 282 balkline billiard's championship and was a 4 to 1 favorite to win the title and a $1,000 side wager.

The point score, with four blocks to be played, was 1,500 for Schaefer to 1,178 for Hoppe. In yesterday's two blocks Schaefer added 75 points to his lead, losing the afternoon duel by 22 points but routing the New York expert 250 to 153 in the evening performance.

Schaefer had a high run of 82, to Hoppe's 62 in the afternoon battle. In the evening the Chicagoan's high was 61, to 39 for Hoppe, who was badly off form.

One Game Postponed,
One Forfeited at Y

With one game postponed because a change in shifts forced several cagers to work, and with the other declared a forfeit with the Wire Works getting the edge over the Turtles, the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball league got off to a rather wobbly start last night as the second round of play opened. The Atlas-Y-Zwicker game was the one postponed because the Zwickers had to work. The Turtles forfeited because they had only four men ready to play when the game was called.

The only game staged last night was a non-league contest between the Town Taxis and the Fox River with the Rivers winning, 39 to 21. The Fox River drew a league bye last night and played the Taxis for the exercise.

Madison Boat Again

Pewaukee —(P)—The Fritz, piloted by Carl Bernard of Madison, Wis., continued its victory pace yesterday, winning two Class A races on the second day of the Northwest-ern Ice Yachting association regatta on Pewaukee lake.

The speedy Fritz, which won the first day race also, skinned over the 12 mile course in 32 minutes in the morning and 44 minutes in the afternoon.

Frank Myers of Pewaukee guided Zero Hour into second place twice. Tom Angers of Oshkosh placed third with Lazy Bones in the morning race. Only two boats finished in the afternoon.

Bobby Thiele, 12, of Pewaukee was leading the field in a Class E race when a front runner on his yacht broke, forcing him out.

Oshkosh was awarded the 1938 regatta and Ken Lampert of Oshkosh was chosen commodore at a meeting of the association last night.

"Here's the way you'll have to do it, if you're going to come out on top against Shawano high tonight," Coach Paul E. Little is telling his Kaukauna high cagers in the above picture. Shawano, holder of second place in the western division of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference, has lost only one league game this season. Kaukauna has won two games and lost three but all of the losses were by close counts to the strongest teams in the conference. KAUKAUNA — The weakening forces of sickness and injury will plague the Kaukauna High school basketball team in its game with Shawano here tonight.

Boots, first string center, still is unsteady from the severe attack of flu which downed him this week and Peterson, his substitute, has an ankle badly swollen from the sprain which occurred in Tuesday's practice session.

Both men were on the floor last night, shooting free throws and listening to Coach Paul Little's final word to the players before they left the gymnasium this evening at 8 o'clock.

Peterson will be in fairly good shape by game time, Coach Little said, "and will probably start. With his ankle taped, he will be able to run without too much difficulty. If he's not ready to play, Lambie will open the game."

Lambie was promoted from the "B" squad when the two varsity squad centers met misfortune. He has worked out with the first team since early in the week.

Weak from his stay in bed, Boots did not participate in plays last night, limiting his activity to free throw practice.

The remainder of the team is in good physical shape. Hamby and Hatchell are ready to start at the guard positions and Koehne and Vanevenhoven at the forwards.

In the midst of conjecture over the uncertain condition of Boots and Peterson came word yesterday that one promising "B" squad man who has been ineligible so far this year is now eligible and that a second one may lift the barrier of an incomplete course within a week.

Gerald Meyer, junior forward, who was out of school most of last year, has completed enough academic work to enter athletics again. William McCormick, trying out at guard, is expected to join the varsity group after he finishes certain assignments.

Gorilla Jones Picked
To Defeat Battaglia

Milwaukee —(P)— Gorilla Jones, Negro middleweight, ruled a slight favorite today to defeat Frankie Battaglia, Palmyra (Wis.) farmer, in their 10 round wuindup bout on a boxing card here tonight.

Jones' experience and boxing ability were considered enough to give him an edge. Battaglia's chances rested on his powerful right. It will be the first meeting of the two fighters.

Other bouts on the card were: Larry Greg, Milwaukee, versus Roger Bernard, Flint, Mich., eight rounds at 133; Johnny Brunette, Green Bay versus Eddie Wenstob, St. Paul, six rounds at 175 pounds; Norb Gerander, Green Bay, versus Tony Cianciola, Milwaukee, six rounds at 152 pounds; Bobby Fader, Fond du Lac, versus Johnny Gaudes, Milwaukee, four rounds at 120 pounds.

Major "Biff" Jones
New Nebraska Coach

Lincoln, Neb. —(P)—The University of Nebraska athletic board pulled a surprise out of its hat today to announce selection of Major Lawrence "Biff" Jones as the new Cornhusker football coach succeeding Dana X. Bible, who resigned to become head grid mentor at Texas University.

Nebraska's board of regents approved the choice last night, they disclosed, close on the heels of a secret trip of athletic board members Tuesday to Kansas City, where Jones was interviewed. The salary was not disclosed.

Board members said Jones would fill Bible's shoes as athletic director as well as head coach. The contract is for five years.

Expect 18,000 at
N. Y. Garden for
Louis-Pastor GoBetting Odds Drop as Result of Joe's Tumble
Wednesday

NEW YORK —(P)— Before the season's largest fight crowd, which figures to see considerably less than the ten rounds paid for, Joe Louis will make his first important start of the year tonight against husky Bob Pastor in Madison Square Garden's ring.

On pre-fight calculations, some 18,000 of the faithful, paying as high as $16.50 each, probably won't be more than comfortably seated before the thing is all over.

Each fighter has predicted a knockout victory for himself. The experts are almost unanimous in picking Louis for a key triumph.

The betting odds, as high as 12 to 1 a few days ago, still are on Louis at about 5 to 1, for a quick finish.

This drop in the betting figures was the result of the ballyhoo attending a training camp knock-down of Louis on Wednesday—a knockout which so boosted the ticket-purchasing pace that the gate promises to be within shouting distance of the $100,000 mark when the boys answer the bell about 10 p. m. (eastern standard time).

In making Louis the overwhelming favorite, the experts point out that he is considerably more experienced than the former New York University footballer, and also will take a considerable weight edge into the ring. Joe probably will scale about 203 to his rival's 185.

The 22-year-old Pastor considers himself sufficiently equipped with all the ring necessities to stop Louis. He insists he won't be frightened into defeat as were Max Baer and King Levinsky when they faced the two-fisted attack of the bomber from Detroit.

On comparative records, Louis has all the better of it. The only fighter met by both was Cleveland's Eddie Simms, knocked out by one Louis punch in December. Pastor had a tough uphill fight to get a draw, after Simms bounced the ex-collegian on the floor four times.

Hebrew Quintet Boasts of Great Caging Records

Weekend Opponent of Oshkosh Stars Claims World's Title

Oshkosh—The Philadelphia Hebrews, champions of the American league, who meet the Oshkosh All Stars, pro champions of Wisconsin, at the Recreation gymnasium Saturday evening and at Green Bay Sunday in games that should be battle royals, are classed by some critics as the logical leaders of the world's crown formerly worn by the famous Original Celtics.

In sport circles throughout the country, the Philadelphia team is ranked as the outstanding court combination in the country today. Another claimant of the title is the New York Renaissance team, colored champions, who beat the All Stars in three games of a five game series last season.

The Hebrews and Renaissance have broken even in two games this season. For years the world's title was held by the Original Celtics, not the team that played here earlier this season, some of the members of which were on the championship circuit however.

Team 18 Years Old.

The Philadelphia Spas have placed teams on the court for 18 consecutive seasons and during that period of competition have numbered in their lineup some of the greatest basketball players of all time.

The present edition of the team is now in its eighth year and its record speaks for itself. They captured three Eastern league championships; lost one in a final playoff with Trenton; won the 1933-34 American league title in their first season as members; received an unexpected setback in a thrilling and sensational playoff of a second half deadlock to Brooklyn Visitation team before last, and gained respect during the past campaign when they again repeated in gaining the American league crown.

This is an achievement that no other team in the history of pro basketball has ever attained. Seven years in outstanding professional leagues, being in the playoff every season, and winning five championships is claimed to be a world's record.

In addition, the team established an unprecedented record in 1933-34 by winning every scheduled game of the second half, 14 in number; and it is hardly likely that this will ever be equaled. Even the Celtics never approached that in an organized league.

Present Team Best.

Without a doubt the present team is the best the Hebrews ever had and have a basis for their contention as world's champions. Aside from their victories and achievements in league rivalry, they also hold decisions over the Celtics, Renaissance and several of the outstanding western aggregations. The team is as truly all-Jewish combination as any team in the history of the game. Every man is an all around performer, especially adept at some particular maneuver.

The squad includes "Red" Ross, "Red" Wolfe, Shikky Gotthoff, Moe Goldman, Gil Flitch, Cy Kaselman and "Inky" Lautman. It combines youth and experience with stardom and aggressiveness, and enough defensive skill to check the opposition. It is ranked as one of the greatest passing quintets ever assembled.

St. Louis Quint Rolls 3,713 Score

Hermanns Count 1,261, 1,211, 1,325 in Record Breaking Effort

St. Louis—Bowling teams the world over had two new records, and possibly a third, to shoot at today.

The Hermanns, a St. Louis quintet, smashed the pins in an exhibition game last night for a new world's mark of 3,797 for three games another of 1,325 for a single game. The former records were held by the Hammes of St. Paul with 3,713.

The Hermanns probably set another record when they scored more than 1,200 in each of their three games. Led by Ray Holmes, who got 12 strikes in the final game for a perfect 300, the team's score was:

Buzz Wilson	246	217	246	709
Ray Holmes	256	236	300	792
Fred Taff	277	246	243	766

WILL CHECK ALLEYS

Milwaukee—(P)—Elmer Baumgarten, secretary of the American Bowling Congress, said yesterday the alleys on which the Hermann Undertakers of the St. Louis classic league rolled a 3,797 score Wednesday night will be checked before the mark is recognized.

"E. C. Gillett, secretary of the St. Louis league, wired me asking that the score be recognized," Baumgarten said, "but we will have to check the alleys first. It's pretty hard to believe such a high score was rolled on regulation drives."

Baumgarten said Gerald Ameling, ABC representative in St. Louis, will check the alleys and report.

Stage Burst of Speed 20 Minutes Before End To Take Honors

Milwaukee—(P)—Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, favored German bike team, made up a lap deficit in the closing minutes of the six-day international bicycle race last night and then won the marathon whirl on sprint points from the American team of Charlie Winter and Freddie Ottevaire.

Both teams traveled 2,576 miles during the 149 hours of pedaling, but the Germans amassed 1,325 points to 692 for Winter and Ottevaire.

Kilian-Vopel put on their final burst of the speed 20 minutes before the finish at midnight to overcome the lap lead the American duo had held since Wednesday afternoon.

Seven teams of nine finished the race. Trailing by eight laps the combination of Gruber-Camastro was ordered from the track by the referee. Charley Yacchino spilled and his partner, Tino Reboli, team leader, was injured in the closing hour. Andy's partner, Reggie Fielding, dropped because of illness.

Matty Bell Would Like Iowa Post

Southern Methodist Coach Says Hawkeye Setup Looks Good

Iowa City, Ia.—(P)—Matty Bell, Southern Methodist University football coach whom Athletic Director E. G. Schroeder traveled to Dallas, Tex., to interview regarding the University of Iowa vacancy, is definitely interested in the Hawkeye position.

Schroeder will report this to the Iowa board within the next few days following his return from Dallas tomorrow, but Bell himself disclosed his interest after talking to the Iowa director.

"I'm more interested than I thought I'd be," Bell said at Dallas after conversing with Schroeder. He added that the Iowa athletic setup, "looked pretty good."

At the same time the S. M. U. mentor declared that he had not received a definite offer from the Iowa athletic board, although he indicated that salary terms had been discussed. It was reported that the proposed salary was $8,000 a year.

Thomson Clips 67 At Frisco Open

H. Smith, Lawson Little, Picard Among Those Showing 68

San Francisco—(P)—Pace-setter Jim Thomson, with a sub-par round already to his credit, led the country's barnstorming golf professionals who teed off today in the second half of 36-hole qualifying tests for the $5,000 San Francisco match play open tournament.

The burly links star from Shawnee, Pa., ranked with the longest drives in the game, toured Ingleside's fairways yesterday in 67.

The score cracked par by four strokes and gave Thomson a one-shot advantage over his closest rivals.

Thomson's game was virtually flawless as he chalked up five birdies for a 33-34. Par for the 6,300-yard course is 36-35-71.

Setting off with first round scores of 68 were four of the front line performers, Horton Smith, Orville H. White and Lawson Little, registered from Chicago; Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa., and Charles Congdon, Tacoma, Wash., newcomer to the big tournament west.

Ed Dudley, Philadelphia, winner of the Sacramento open last week, shot a 69, as also did Byron Nelson, Ridgewood, N. J., Jimmy Hines, Garden City, N. J., Neil Christian, Yakima, Wash., and Bill Nary, Vallejo, Calif.

Davis Cup Play Will be Closer

United States' Youngsters To be "on Spot" This Spring

London—(P)—On the eve of the closing date for Davis cup entries, the outlook for this year's international tennis competition pointed today to a field of 18 nations, with the United States' youngsters definitely "on the spot."

The return of Japan with a promising team to the North American zone competition, and the presence of Australia, conqueror of America's squad last year, made it anything but certain that Don Budge and his United States companions will reach the inter-zone finals in their efforts to dethrone England.

The draw Monday will have only Japan, Australia and the United States in the eliminations on the western side of the Atlantic.

Fourteen nations, including the always dangerous French team led by the veteran Jean Borotra and by the strong 1936 entry from Yugoslavia, are challenging Germany's highly-regarded contenders in the European zone.

Nebraska Grid Officials Don't Waste Much Time

BY SCOTTY RESTON

(Punch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK—(P)—Those Nebraska officials don't fool... Dana Bible quite one week and they hire "Biff" Jones to coach their football team the next... And they won't have to do any apologizing for that selection, either...

Lawrence McCeney Jones (and does he hate that handle!) is probably the only West Point football captain who didn't captain the football team... He, V. C. named captain after the 1916 season and went to war before the next campaign...

Here's the inside on his tiff with the late Huey Long: Jones' Louisiana State team was behind during an important game and Long came in during the half-time intermission and asked Biff if he could talk to the team... Jones said there was no time... Huey pressed and Biff still refused... As Jones went into the locker room, Long said, "Well, you'd better win..."

When Jones came out he walked over to Long and asked, "Senator, what did you mean by that remark?"... "I meant just that," Huey replied... "Well, win, lose or draw, I'm through after this," was Jones' comeback... And he meant it too... As a retired major with 191 years of active service, Jones will continue to draw around $160 a month from the United States army...

Colonel Jake Ruppert, bachelor bear and ball player, in his seventh year, is still taking his morning walk through Central park. Immaculately dressed, he leaves his Fifth avenue apartment before eight every morning, strolls a bit along the paths and then heads for the brewery... He's at his desk by 8:30 a. m. daily...

Nothing interferes with this routine... On Friday evenings he departs for his Garrison, N. Y. estate, a secluded 135-acre plot just across the Hudson from the United States Military Academy... There he plays weekends with his kennel of St. Bernards and his cage of monkeys... While the baseball world wonders what will happen one day to the fabulous Ruppert fortune and the famous Ruppert ball team (Yankees, to you).

Wings For Sally
by BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS: Philip Page, dark, handsome young publisher of the Warrenton Courier, loves Sally Warren, the thoughtful society editor. They are fighting to save McDonald, a discharged mill worker who is on trial for burning the Palace theater. By eavesdropping on Giles Benton, an unscrupulous detective, and his employer, Mr. Morris, who owns the theater and the mill, Sally gets proof of McDonald's innocence. She confronts Benton with this information as he is leaving the Morris house with a blackmail accomplice, Mrs. Picard. Benton kidnaps Sally.

Chapter 41
GILES' PRISONER

THE minute Sally entered the house, she knew she could expect no help from whoever lived there. She was alone with Giles Benton and Mrs. Picard, who had already shown they would stop at nothing to extort money from the richest man in town. She was miles from home, somewhere within the shooting preserves of a group of men who never visited their property at this time of year. And yet the circumstance that appressed Sally most was that she alone knew the truth that would set McDonald free from the threat of prison.

The owner of the little house in the woods had looked cheerful and inviting to Sally. The inside was desolate indeed. The place was a hunting lodge, well furnished, but evidently it had been boarded up for the furniture was covered with dust protectors and the windows were still nailed down in some places. Someone had broken into the lodge and simply camped there, with no attempt to keep the place clean. Ashes, burned matches and cigarette stubs littered the floor. Beer bottles and cans of food were stacked against one wall. An open tin of sardines had been left on the arm of a chair.

When Sally entered the living room of the lodge, a large dog was chewing a bone on the hearthrug. The dog simply lifted his head and looked at her calmly, then without so much as a growl, he went back to his bone. Giles Benton and Mrs. Picard did not follow Sally at once. She knew they were talking about her outside.

The longer they stayed outside, the more time she had to look around her. In a place like this, Sally thought, there must be a telephone. If she had time to find it, she might phone Warrenton before Giles Benton discovered her.

She opened a door that led from the living room. The dog lifted his head and growled, but Sally went on. She was in a very dark, narrow hallway from which a spiral staircase climbed to the second floor. Sally was feeling about for the light switch when she remembered that the room she had just left was lighted by a kerosene lamp and two candles. As she turned to go back to the other room for a candle, her hand touched a wall phone.

With a hasty glance at the door, through which she had just come, Sally took down the receiver and jangled the telephone hook eagerly. There was no response--the wire was dead, Sally could not believe her misfortune. Now that she had found the telephone surely there was some way of using it. But for all her impatience, the telephone remained dead. She hung up at last. Of course, whoever lived here, or rather, had broken in here, would not risk discovery by having either lights or telephone connected.

Who was the person who lived in the lodge? It was not Giles Benton. Could it possibly be someone Sally knew -- someone from Warrenton, who could be induced to take a message for her? Sally would not give up hope until she had exhausted this last possibility.

Helpless and Furious

As Sally re-entered the living room of the lodge, she heard the car start outside. She rushed to the door in time to see the red tail-light dwindling to nothing in the distance. So they had gone and left her alone in this house in the woods. Didn't they know that she was young and strong, fully capable of making her way along the dark road to the highway? She shivered at the thought of that journey along the woods road in the dark. There was no moon and the darkness was so thick Sally felt she could have snipped a hole in it big enough to look through if she had some scissors sharp enough. This darkness was like a thick black canopy that was too smotheringly near.

Suddenly a man stepped up to Sally. She gave a little nervous start and shrank back against the house. The man moved again and the light shone on his face. It was Giles Benton! So only Mrs. Picard had gone away in the car.

"Won't you come inside, Miss Warren?" asked Giles Benton. "The gentleman who lives here is out just now, but I'm sure he will not mind if we make ourselves comfortable."

"I should like to get back to Warrenton at once," said Sally. "I'm sure you understand why. Will the car be back soon?"

"I'm afraid I can't answer that question," said Giles. He entered the house and Sally followed him, feeling helpless and furious.

"And I'm afraid you've gone a little too far, bringing me out here without my consent."

Giles turned to her suddenly and the expression of his face revealed such anger, such positive hatred, that Sally stood frozen with fear.

"Miss Warren, you have interfered with affairs that do not concern you. You have listened where you had no business and you need not be surprised now if you find yourself in an unpleasant situation." As Sally still stood and stared at him, he snapped out, "Sit down, Miss Warren. You'll be here for some time."

"But you surely can't intend to keep me here against my will!"

"That's exactly what I propose to do," said Giles coolly.

"You know they'll search for me. We're very near Warrenton, and they'll find me almost at once. It's ridiculous of you to try to keep me here!"

Suddenly the big dog rose from the hearthrug and rushed out the door.

Members of the two teams are as follows: affirmative, M. A. Kalisto, J. Duffy, G. Brewster, and F. Schmitt; negative, M. A. Flanagan, B. Holmes, S. Grignon, and J. McCarty. The question is "Resolved: That all public utilities should be governmentally owned and operated."

Rah Rah Club Plans

To Stir Up Cheering

Kaukauna—If the high school basketball team hears more noise than usual from its cheering section in tonight's game with Shawano, it will be because a group of girls decided the place needed a little pep-ping up.

At a meeting of the Rah Rah club Monday, the girls expressed disappointment in the response given cheer leaders at basketball games. They decided to sit together from now on and appointed Jean Panabaker as their yell queen.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertens barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. Don Anderson is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

ONLY HOUSETOPS SHOW ABOVE FLOOD WATERS IN LAWRENCEBURG, IND.

This picture from Lawrenceburg, Ind., tells more of the horrors of the widespread Ohio river flood in a glance than could thousands of words. It shows the scene unfolded before rescue workers as they traversed one of the town's principal streets in a boat in search of any residents who might not have fled before the advance of the muddy waters. Only the tops of two-story houses appeared above the water, one-story buildings being completely submerged. (Associated Press Photo)

New London Frosh Defeat Kaukauna

Home Team's Late Rally Falls Short as It Loses 17 to 15

Kaukauna—A last-quarter drive by the Kaukauna high school freshmen basketball team fell two points short and they were defeated 17-15 by New London's first-year players here yesterday afternoon.

Trailing 14-8 as the last quarter opened, the Kaw yearlings suddenly found the scoring touch and hauled in seven points while their opponents were making three. The gun stopped their comeback.

Alger, lanky Kaw center, was the high point man of the game with three field goals and two free tosses, a total of eight points. Ross, New London forward, paced his team with six points.

Tin is the principal mineral product of Bolivia, that country accounting for about one-fourth of the world's annual supply.

Look, I got a TOOTH!

VITAMIN D MILK IS GOOD MILK!

THAT'S what he'd say if he could. And those first tiny "pearls" mean a new responsibility for you!

Our Vitamin D Milk fortified with VITEX (Vitamin D concentrate from cod liver oil) gives the important body-building elements that are found in milk, plus the essential Vitamin D from cod liver oil which helps to minimize dental caries and develop stronger teeth.

Every quart contains without change of taste an added 400 U.S.P. units of Vitamin D—the Vitamin D equivalent of 1 1/4 teaspoonfuls of the new minimum standard U.S.P. Cod Liver Oil.

This milk and every claim we make for it has been accepted by the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association.

Farm Outlook Is Brighter for 1937

Federal Bureau Compiles Data on Crop and Livestock Production

"The outlook is for further improvement in the economic position of American agriculture in 1937." This is the first statement in the annual farm outlook report, an economic analysis of prospects for the coming crop and livestock production season which has been prepared by the bureau of agricultural economics with the cooperation of extension workers from nearly every state according to R. C. Swenson, county agricultural agent.

Outlook meetings are now being held with farmers in many farm communities. The outlook report, from which radiates information concerning the prospective situation affecting the supply, demand, and price of farm products—is available without charge from the bureau of agricultural economics, Washington, D. C.

Beekkeepers of Brown County Will Meet

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison — Beekkeepers of Brown county and the adjoining area will meet at the Brown county courthouse in Green Bay on Feb. 15 to discuss ways and means of bee disease control, the department of agriculture and markets has announced.

The conference will be led by a representative of the department of agriculture and markets who will also conduct meetings in other counties in Eastern Wisconsin next month.

The purpose of the forecasts is to assist farmers in planning their production and marketing programs for 1937. Farmers always have to make forecasts. No matter how inadequate the information available to them, farmers must take the future into account in planning their crop and livestock programs. The outlook report is an attempt to help them make better forecasts by providing them with more adequate information, Swenson explained.

YOUR HUSBAND WILL LOVE THIS YANKEE APPLE JOHN.. MINE RAVES ABOUT IT

SEE RECIPE BELOW

KNOW WHY THE BISCUIT CRUST IS SO LIGHT AND DELICATE? IT'S MADE WITH Spry

Spry IS TRIPLE-CREAMED. YOU GET LIGHTER CAKES IN HALF THE MIXING TIME

Spry PASTRY IS FLAKIER, MORE TENDER. Spry-FRIED FOODS ARE AS DIGESTIBLE AS IF BAKED

Old-Fashioned Apple Cobbler made a delicious new easy way

YANKEE Apple John—can't you just see Grandmother making it in an old New England kitchen? Can't you smell the spicy, fragrant aroma as she opens the oven door? Here's a new version of this grand old favorite, better even than Grandmother's kind. For it's made with Spry, the new triple-creamed ALL-vegetable shortening. Spry is purer, whiter, smoother, mixes twice as fast. Gives cakes, biscuits, pastry new fineness of flavor and texture. Spry-fried foods are crisp, golden, tender—so digestible. Try Spry.

The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening -TRIPLE-CREAMED!

YANKEE APPLE JOHN
6 tart apples, thinly sliced
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup Spry
1/2 cup milk (about)

Fill a shallow 12x8-inch baking dish, greased with Spry, with sliced apples. Mix sugar, spices and salt and sprinkle over apples.
Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in Spry until mixture is as fine as corn meal. (Takes only half the time with triple-creamed Spry.) Add milk, mixing until a soft dough is formed. Knead lightly on floured board for about 20 seconds. Roll into a rectangle 12x8x3/4-inches and fit over apples. Brush with milk. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 25 minutes. (Notice what a wonderfully tender, delicate crust you get with Spry!) Digestible, too, like all desserts made with Spry. Serve hot with Nutmeg Sauce. Serves 8.

NUTMEG SAUCE
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup nutmeg
1/2 cup flour
Dash of salt
2 cups boiling water
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon vinegar

Mix sugar, nutmeg, flour and salt in saucepan. Add boiling water, stirring constantly until blended. Add butter and boil 5 minutes. Remove from fire, add vinegar and serve hot.

FLOOD-CRAZED CONVICT'S WRECK KENTUCKY PRISON

This was the scene of desolation in the flooded Kentucky state penitentiary at Frankfort that greeted Gov. A. B. Chandler as he personally inspected it after terror-stricken convicts had been evacuated following three days of disorders during which they watched flood waters mount higher and higher.

Water in the lower cell block was two feet deep. The fact that no bodies were found in the debris was called a "miracle" by Gov. Chandler. "How we managed not to have lost hundreds of lives during the fighting and rioting among the prisoners is a mystery to me," he said. (Associated Press Photo).

Students Study Products

Menasha — The economics department of the social science class at Menasha high school has just completed the study of intelligent buying which is being taught so that students may know the difference between reliable and phoney materials.

Plans Made for 3rd Play Tonight

George H. Dobbins Addresses Manawa Lions on Traffic Regulations

Special to Post-Crescent
Manawa—Miss Muriel Waid is chairman of the program committee for the third Play Night of the present series to be held at the O. O. F. clubhouse next Monday evening. She will be assisted by Delores Patten and Clarence Sabrowsky. Heading the refreshment committee is Lola Patten, with Rosetta Preuss and Everett Coleman as assistants. Readings by Earl Carl Koch, vocal solos by Lorene Gehrke, works of magic by Bill Voss, and a big surprise number will be included on the program.

Improved weather and added publicity resulted in a turnout of over 100 boys and girls at the last Play night. A program was presented, and with a German band, John Schaefer singing a solo in German, the exchange of German between various artists, and the crowd's appraisal of Bill Deckert, everyone had a fine time.

Members of the German band were Lorene Gehrke, Florine Pletzer, Lillian Voss, Walter Wandtke, Carol Wohlhab, Rolland Handrich, Vic Miller, and Everett Schefelker. Other numbers on the program included Margaret Jensen with a tap dance specialty, and musical numbers by Frank Binder, Andy Martin, and Felix Stevens.

Discusses Traffic System

Explanation of the new traffic regulation system in Waupaca county and the steps that led up to it were given by George H. Dobbins, chairman of the county sheriff and traffic regulations committee, in a talk before the Manawa Lions club at its regular weekly session.

Mr. Dobbins praised L. W. Eastling, Manawa, county board chairman, for his activities in support of the new system, and stated that the only remedies for the alarming number of accidents on the highways today caused principally by speed and drunken driving are campaigns of safety education and efficient traffic officers. Earl Polzin, Marion, one of the county speed cops, was a guest at the meeting.

The local Lions club voted to donate $25 to the Red Cross for flood relief purposes, and $5 for feeding birds. Dr. R. L. Loughrin, club president, was given authority to appoint a committee to look into the matter of outside solicitors seeking donations from Manawa business men.

Miss Jane Lindsay of Manawa will sing with the Lawrence college A Cappella choir when it gives public concerts at the Pabst theater in Milwaukee, Friday evening, Feb. 5, and at the Goodman theater in Chicago, Saturday, Feb. 6. The choir will also sing at the University of Chicago chapel on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 7, and over a national radio hook-up from the Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting company. This is Miss Lindsay's third season with the choir at Lawrence, where she is a senior.

Miss Ethel Buchholz and Miss Rosalie Timm both of Manawa have been selected as members of the lighting staff and direction staff respectively for the theater play, "The Importance of Ernest," to be presented within the next few weeks by students of Central State Teachers college at Stevens Point.

Students of Manawa High school held a non-decision debate with Tigerton here, Wednesday afternoon. The question was: "Resolved, That all electric utilities should be governmentally owned and operated." Tigerton was represented by Lief Erickson, Edward Kronberg, Bertha Spielh, Cynthia Kersten, Lester Lehman, and Melvin Meaker. The members of the Manawa squad under the coaching of Earl Carl Koch, speech instructor, were Alice Combs, Lillian Voss, Robert Herman, Ethel Stricharske, Marabel Wallace and Irma Sturm.

A federal district court interrupted enforcement of the minimum code schedule against the Illinois firms which take garments to Illinois for cleaning and dyeing, and then return them to Wisconsin customers. The commission said it had taken into consideration "the danger that a breaking down of prices in this zone will spread the breakdown to Milwaukee, the largest single zone in the state. The commission has also taken into consideration the comparatively small volume of the Illinois agencies' business in Kenosha and Racine."

Commissioners Lawrence C. Whitte and Fred M. Wylie announced they "will keep in touch with the situation and will be prepared to take such steps as may seem from time to time necessary to protect the citizens of Wisconsin."

ATTEND DRILL
Neenah—Sons of the V. F. W., a youth organization in Neenah, will meet at 7 o'clock this evening in the city hall for drill under the direction of Percy Handier. Ruben Brandmeier is commander of the group and about 35 boys have enlisted.

Donations for Flood Relief Total $1,972

Neenah—With $1,972.45 received at noon today at the Neenah chapter office of the Red Cross, assurance was given that Neenah residents would hurdle the $2,000 mark for the flood relief fund. Few cities with a population equal to that of Neenah have responded so generously in the national crisis, local officials believed. Donations are being received at the office located in the National Manufacturers Bank building to aid the distressed people in the stricken flood area.

When the boys weren't around the boat did better than 40 on the open road with the throttle one-fourth open. They're looking for a lot of smooth ice to try out now. Buss helped to build the boat for the fun of it but Rudd Smith is the financial partner in the adventure. (Post-Crescent Photo)

12 Families of New London Taken Off Relief Roll

County Court Orders Return to Places of Legal Residence

New London—A dozen families were stricken from New London relief rolls at hearings before A. M. Scheller, Waupaca county judge, Thursday.

Proceedings to remove a number of families from the relief list were started in New London by Giles Putnam, city attorney, as the result of refusal by the county board to allow transient claims of the city totaling about $200.

Some of the families were ordered to return to the municipalities in which they had legal residence while others were allowed to remain in New London until the close of school but without benefit of relief from the city.

In addition to the 12 New London cases on which decisions were reached, one was left unheard and two were continued.

Putnam, William Lipke, relief director, and Mrs. J. C. Freeman, city clerk, appeared for New London. Municipalities in which the families had legal residence also were represented.

Two families now at Weyauwega were ordered by the court to return to their places of legal residence.
